

Honors Program in Religious Studies: Application

Students majoring in religious studies who have a grade point average of 3.65 or higher in the major may apply during the junior year for admission to the honors program. Proposal and bibliography must be submitted to the department chair by April 15. On successful completion of the work for the honors program, including a thesis, their graduation from the College will be noted as being "With Honors in Religious Studies."

Qualified students should discuss prospective Honors Projects with at least one, and preferably two, Religious Studies faculty members to make sure that the project is feasible. If you are planning to study abroad, start these conversations far in advance to meet the deadlines and provide the opportunity for detailed conversations with prospective mentors. Prospective mentors should be consulted in advance to ascertain whether they are willing and able to serve.
