

Is It Okay If I Don't Get Caught?

Come hear J.C. Watts – businessman, ordained minister, professional athlete, and former congressman –
answer that question.

*“Character is doing the right thing
when nobody’s looking. There are too many people who think that the only thing that’s right is to get by, and the only thing that’s wrong is to get caught.” - J.C. Watts*

Wednesday,
November 8, 2006
7 p.m.
Colby College
Page Commons, Cotter Union

J.C. Watts' campus visit is sponsored by the Gerrish Fund for Spiritual Enrichment. The purpose of the Gerrish Fund is to raise awareness of the importance that values will play throughout students' lives at Colby and beyond. Honesty, integrity, courage, compassion, and humility are critical in living a productive, meaningful, and satisfying life. The fund has been established through gifts from Allan and Gail '62 Gerrish.

For more information call 207-459-4273
or e-mail Chaplain Ron Morrell at remorrel@colby.edu
You may also visit J.C. Watts' website at <http://www.jcwatts.com/htm>