In our 32 years, many of the finest players in Maine, New England, and the East have sharpened their skills at the Pine Tree Basketball Camp. More than 80 of our players have received basketball scholarships. One of our former campers was on the powerful 1992 U.S. Olympic team after being a first-team Division I All-American in 1984. Beyond this, we have had the finest coaches capable of teaching and helping players at all levels to improve their game. The atmosphere is always one of enjoyment and high intensity. ### TUITION

Tuition is $460 for each of the weeks. Because of NCAA regulations, we are unable to offer any type of group or sibling rates. Any player wishing to commute (not stay in a dorm) may do so at a $50 reduction per week. Activities begin each day at 8:30 a.m. and end at approximately 9 p.m.

LOCATION

The clinic will be held on the beautiful 714-acre Colby College campus. The use of the Colby campus means that all structured activities will be on indoor courts, three in the gym and five in the spacious field house. The Olympic-size indoor pool will be available as will all campus recreational facilities.

MOTIVATIONAL SERIES

In each session of the clinic, specific motivational discussions, in small groups with question and answer periods, are mandatory. These time periods are devoted to peripheral areas, such as the reasons that young people play and ways they can better themselves and prepare for the future. Many different coaches are asked to take part in this exciting aspect of our program.

COMPETITION

The key to success and development is to compete at a level that will promote improvement. With players from 13 states and three provinces in Canada, the breadth of talent is extensive and the competition is at a high level. However, the DIVISIONAL setup in different age groups allows for EVERY PLAYER to have the opportunity to become thoroughly involved at the level of play that each has attained. Significant awards are given for improvement, DESIRE and achievement.
