JANUARY COURSES

January Program (Jan Plan) options include courses for credit, independent study, internships, noncredit courses, and faculty-led courses abroad.

Selected courses offered in January may be used to fulfill the January Program requirement, which is described in the Academic Requirements section. A complete list of offerings is available through the Curriculum Search link on the registrar’s website in October, when students elect a course for the January term. Some Jan Plans such as those that involve travel or other special arrangements may have early information sessions and application deadlines or may require a deposit. Enrollment is limited to 30 or fewer students in nearly all courses. First-year students have priority in all noncredit and 100-level courses unless otherwise indicated.

A more complete description of the January Program with material about previous Jan Plan activities is maintained at colby.edu/janplan. An online list of Jan Plans there is updated each year during the fall semester.

Most courses to be offered in January are described under the sponsoring academic department or program in this catalogue along with the regular semester offerings (a “j” following the course number indicates a January Program course). Some courses, however, are independent of any specific department and can be found by searching for “JP” courses in Curriculum Search on the registrar’s website.

Examples of such Jan Plans offered in recent years include Emergency Medical Technician Training, Mindfulness, Furniture Making, Blacksmithing, Behavioral Medicine, Meteorology, and Premed Academy.

JP003j  Premed Academy  Students will be paired with MaineGeneral-affiliated physicians in the Waterville area for intensive job shadowing and clinical observation. They will also develop and complete a project of benefit to the practice of the supervising physician and spend time reflecting on their experiences through group discussions centered on relevant readings. Prerequisite:  Biology 163 and 164, or Chemistry 141 and 142, or 145; sophomore or higher standing; and significant interest in medicine as demonstrated through previous volunteer work or job shadowing.  Noncredit.  BERKNER

JP006j  Furniture Making  An introduction to the basic techniques and design skills that will enable students to create fine furniture. Hand-and power-tool techniques taught in a well-equipped shop at the Colby-Hume Center. $100 lab fee. Prerequisite:  Permission of the instructor. Contact Daniel Camann at djcamann@colby.edu  Noncredit.  CAMANN

JP007j  Blacksmithing  An intensive introduction to the fundamental processes involved in forging and forming iron (steel), taught in a well-equipped shop at the Colby-Hume Center. Primary focus will be the development of the skills and understanding necessary to complete assigned exercises using fire, hammer, and anvil. Students will also work individually with the instructor to design and execute a final project. Materials fee: $100. Prerequisite:  Prospective students should submit a brief essay outlining their interest in the course to the instructor, Steve Murdoch, at scmurdock@uninets.net. Final selection will be by personal interview.  Noncredit.  MURDOCK
JP021j Integrating Mindfulness into Work, Health, Play, Relationship Mindfulness is the study and practice of paying attention to what is happening right here, right now, before judgment, and responding to the situation from the place of balance and center rather than reacting from old patterns. We will study the history and neuroscience research of mindfulness with emphasis on techniques for everyday life. With lightheartedness we will study the mind/body connection. Our study and practice comes from the work of Nancy Hathaway, founder of the Center for Studying Mindfulness, and Jon Kabat-Zinn, founder and director of the Mindfulness Program at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center. Nongraded. Previously offered as JP097 (2013). Noncredit. HATHAWAY

JP024j Sheep to Shawl The course begins with a day trip to a Maine farm dedicated to sustainable agriculture; students will learn to wash and prepare raw fleece for dyeing, felting and spinning. At Colby we will indulge in spinning, felting, knitting, crocheting, and other techniques, to transform fiber into both wearable and non-wearable designs. We will explore colors, patterns, and wools characteristics as we master the skills needed to create something extraordinary in fiber. Materials cost: $50. Nongraded. Noncredit. FOWLER

JP097j Local Food from Production to Plate Tour local food facilities to discover how grains are milled, cheese made, fish caught, and vegetables raised and stored. Work with a nutritionist to learn all about these foods and how they impact our diets. Enjoy hands-on cooking classes working alongside professional chefs, learning not only basic cooking skills but exploring creative preparations for these products. Nongraded. Noncredit. KLAUS

JP153j Meteorology Using text and real-time data, students discover how the basic principles of meteorology are used to understand weather systems and learn how to forecast weather patterns using these principles. A field trip allows those enrolled to interact with working meteorologists and discuss how forecasts are made for the public and private sectors. Students present their own meteorological research efforts, demonstrating their understanding of the principles and practices presented during Jan Plan. Satisfies the non-lab science requirement. Previously listed as Geology 153. Three credit hours. EPSTEIN

JP197j Resettling Refugees and Immigrants in Portland Explores 30 years of refugee resettlement in Portland, Maine. Students live with a refugee or immigrant family, work in a public school or health facility, and encounter issues confronting immigrants from Southeast Asia, Africa, Eastern Europe, and Latin America. Students write two short reflective essays, keep a journal, meet regularly with the instructor, and attend events. Learning goals include strengthening skills of written and oral reflection, and active listening and questioning; increasing self-confidence and self-awareness; learning more about international cultures embedded in American culture; and gaining firsthand knowledge of public education and health issue demands and challenges. Cost: $100 deposit. Prerequisite: Application, by October 2. Contact Professor Thaler at Jeffrey.Thaler@maine.edu for more information or to request an application. Noncredit. THALER

JP297Bj Introduction to Entrepreneurship An introduction to the new venture development process, from initial idea through funding and market launch. Identification and evaluation of new venture opportunities, and the development of a comprehensive business plan and funding summary are key learning objectives. Topics also include a review of the new venture funding industry and how these funding sources evaluate, select potential investments. Nongraded. Does not count toward the economics majors or minors. Prerequisite: Economics 133. Two credit hours. DOWNS

JP297Cj Stress and the Human-Environment Interaction Explores the scientific evidence of psychological stress resulting from our interaction with the complex environment of modern Western society. Many aspects of our contemporary environment act as stressors and can lead to a wide spectrum of unhealthy stress-induced behaviors and conditions. These stressors can originate from a variety of sources ranging from the normal function of society (e.g., traffic noise, city lights) to the extremes of pollution disasters (e.g., oil spills). We will examine the epidemiological and neuroendocrine evidence of environmentally-induced psychological stress. Three credit hours. BUCCOGROSSI
