For students considering Ph.D. level graduate study in economics we recommend: EC336 (Mathematical Economics); MA122 or MA162; MA253 (Linear Algebra); MA274 (Mathematical Reasoning); MA311 (Ordinary Differential Equations); MA338 (Real Analysis); and CS151 (Computational Thinking).

EC393 is a pre-requisite or concurrent requirement for all senior seminars. No economics course listed for any major or minor may be taken satisfactory/unsatisfactory. Independent studies and EC345 cannot be used to fulfill any of the elective course requirements.

The minor cannot be combined with either of the Economics majors.

A relevant internship experience is recommended for all majors and minors.
