Summary

Margaret, Russ, and Alicia recently attended an AAC&U conference on general education requirements. A Modes of inquiry approach is being adopted by quite a few schools. Many schools, but certainly not all, are implementing first year seminars. Many schools needed a 3-6 year process to complete their review and revision of general education requirements.

We began a discussion of the responses to the faculty survey.

The process of meeting with individual departments is underway. The meetings with Biology and Psychology are already completed. Seven more are scheduled.
